

Prompt Engineering Reflection

I used a ChatGPT chat to change my resume to fit other jobs by changing my prompts and providing additional information to achieve the results I wanted. I began by just attaching a PDF of my original resume to a chat asking to convert it into a resume to fit for a healthcare position. After I received the results from that chat, I asked if it could change the tone to be more professional but keep the format of my original resume.

Once I realized how easily a resume could be transformed with the simple use of AI prompts, I then sent another prompt saying, "Can you also make one for a marketing job but keep the same tone as the healthcare resume and the same format of the original resume?" After those results came in, I then prompted my AI chatbot to change it to be more specific to a digital marketing position.

Once I had both of those resumes ready i decided to input the information into word documents using the same resume template I had previously used. Overall, I prompted AI with simple but detailed messages and made sure to send additional information when needed.
